

Clinical Therapeutics, Oncology Protocols, and Patient Care

The clinical trial evaluated patient response to novel chemotherapy dosage and pharmaceutical therapeutic regimens. Attending physicians and nurses monitored patient vital signs, diagnostic blood pressure, blood glucose, and oncology symptoms to prevent adverse drug reactions. Medical healthcare protocols mandated comprehensive pathology reviews, outpatient clinical therapy schedules, and cardiology diagnostic evaluations.